DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: Application filed on 01/18/2002
2. Claims 1-4 are pending in this case. Claims 1 and 3 are independent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. A website is non-statutory unless it is tangibly embodied on a computer readable medium. In order to overcome this rejection it is suggested that the preamble of claim 1 be changed to the following: "A website that is tangibly embodied on a computer readable medium for displaying a plurality of HTML pages sequentially, the website comprising: ..."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 1 and 3 recite the limitation "second link" in part (c) of the claims. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. It is also noted that a third-image link is disclosed where there is no antecedent basis for a second link. Proper correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Microsoft PowerPoint (hereinafter PowerPoint, published in 1999 by Microsoft Corporation).

Regarding independent claim 1, PowerPoint discloses a method in which a first and second HTML pages are displayed in which a first image link links the first page to the second page so that the pages are displayed sequentially (first page, then second when the image link is selected) (Pages 1 and 2, items 1-3). PowerPoint also discloses that a third HTML page, which is to be inserted into a predetermined position either between the first and second pages, before the first page, or after the second page (Pages 6-11, items 6-8 which designate the predetermined position for page insertion, and items 9-11 which show the pages after insertion occurs). The links necessary to keep the navigation sequential are automatically added to the third page and any links on the first and second pages are corrected to maintain sequential display (Pages 12-14, items 12-15, which properly act to navigate the pages sequentially with the new third page in its current position – between pages 1 and 2).

Regarding dependent claim 2, PowerPoint discloses a method in which the links are graphical icons (in this case arrows) (Page 1, item 1).

Regarding independent claim 3 and dependent claim 4, the claims incorporate substantially similar subject matter as claims 1 and 2. Thus, the claims are rejected along the same rationale as claims 1 and 2.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:
